Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 08-13-2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,3,4,6,9-11 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sher-5556417.

Sher discloses a holding apparatus having an eyelid opening portion with two portions (22) for pulling open eyelids, a holding portion 61 which is frosted with a phosphorescent material and has a chamfered bottom portion as shown in fig. 2A, the holding portion is capable of holding a contact lens on the eyeball and is located in an open space between the two portions of the eyelid opener portion; and a connecting portion (34,35,36,38,40,42 and 44) that connects the holding portion 61 to the eyelid opener portions, and which includes an elastic spring member 38 that extends across at least some of the open space. The spring would allow for movement of 61 relative to 22 while maintaining a connected state.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sher-'417 in view of Waller-4145013.

Sher discloses the invention as claimed with the exception of the spring being silicone rubber, and the connecting portion having a hole engaged to the engaging portion. As silicone rubber spring were known at the time of the invention (see Waller who encases a coil spring in silicone rubber), using such a material would have been an obvious design choice. The particular material is not considered critical to the invention and any elastic material would have worked equally as well. Reversing the connection of the connecting portion to the engaging portion such that 44 went on the outside of the tubular extension of 61 instead of inside it would have been a mere obvious reversal of known parts.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12-15 and 18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
